PART VI, Research Maps C

National Historic Landmark Map Set

Series-1 1805 Northern Nez Perces Trail

Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail

The oldest of the historic trails within the Lolo Trail National Historic Landmark is the Northern Nez Perces Trail (NNT), scouted and used primarily by the Nez Perce between the time they obtained horses (circa 1730) and 1866. It was used by the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery in 1805 (westbound) and 1806 (eastbound) during their western explorations. Lewis and Clark also used the Fishery Trail down to the Lochsa River in their westbound travel.

The NNT had two branches on the western end. The southernmost we will call the Hungery Creek Branch (H-NNT). This branch was used by Lewis and Clark (1805-06). The northernmost branch we will call the Snowy Summit Branch (S-NNT)which was used by John Work (1831), John Mullan (1854), and George Nicholson (1866) when they traveled the route.

National Historic Landmark Map Set

Series-2 1805-06 Lewis & Clark National Historic Trail

This map set documents the exact tread of the Lewis & Clark National Historic Trail as followed by the Corps of Discovery under the command of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, eastward in 1806. It is the same as their westward travel in 1805 except, westward, they diverted from the main trail down to the upper Lochsa River on the Koos-Koos-Kee Fishing Trail. This trail and the fishing trail should be managed as the Lewis & Clark National Historic Trail.

Map Series-4 1831 Northern Nez Perces Trail

Some time between 1806 and 1831, the Nez Perce dropped use of the Hungery Creek route in favor of the Snowy Summit Route. The Snowy Summit Branch of the Northern Nez Perces Trail was first documented by John Work in 1831 and later by John Mullan in 1854 and George Nicholson is 1866. It is part of the Lolo Trail National Historic Landmark and part of the Nez Perce National Historic Trail.

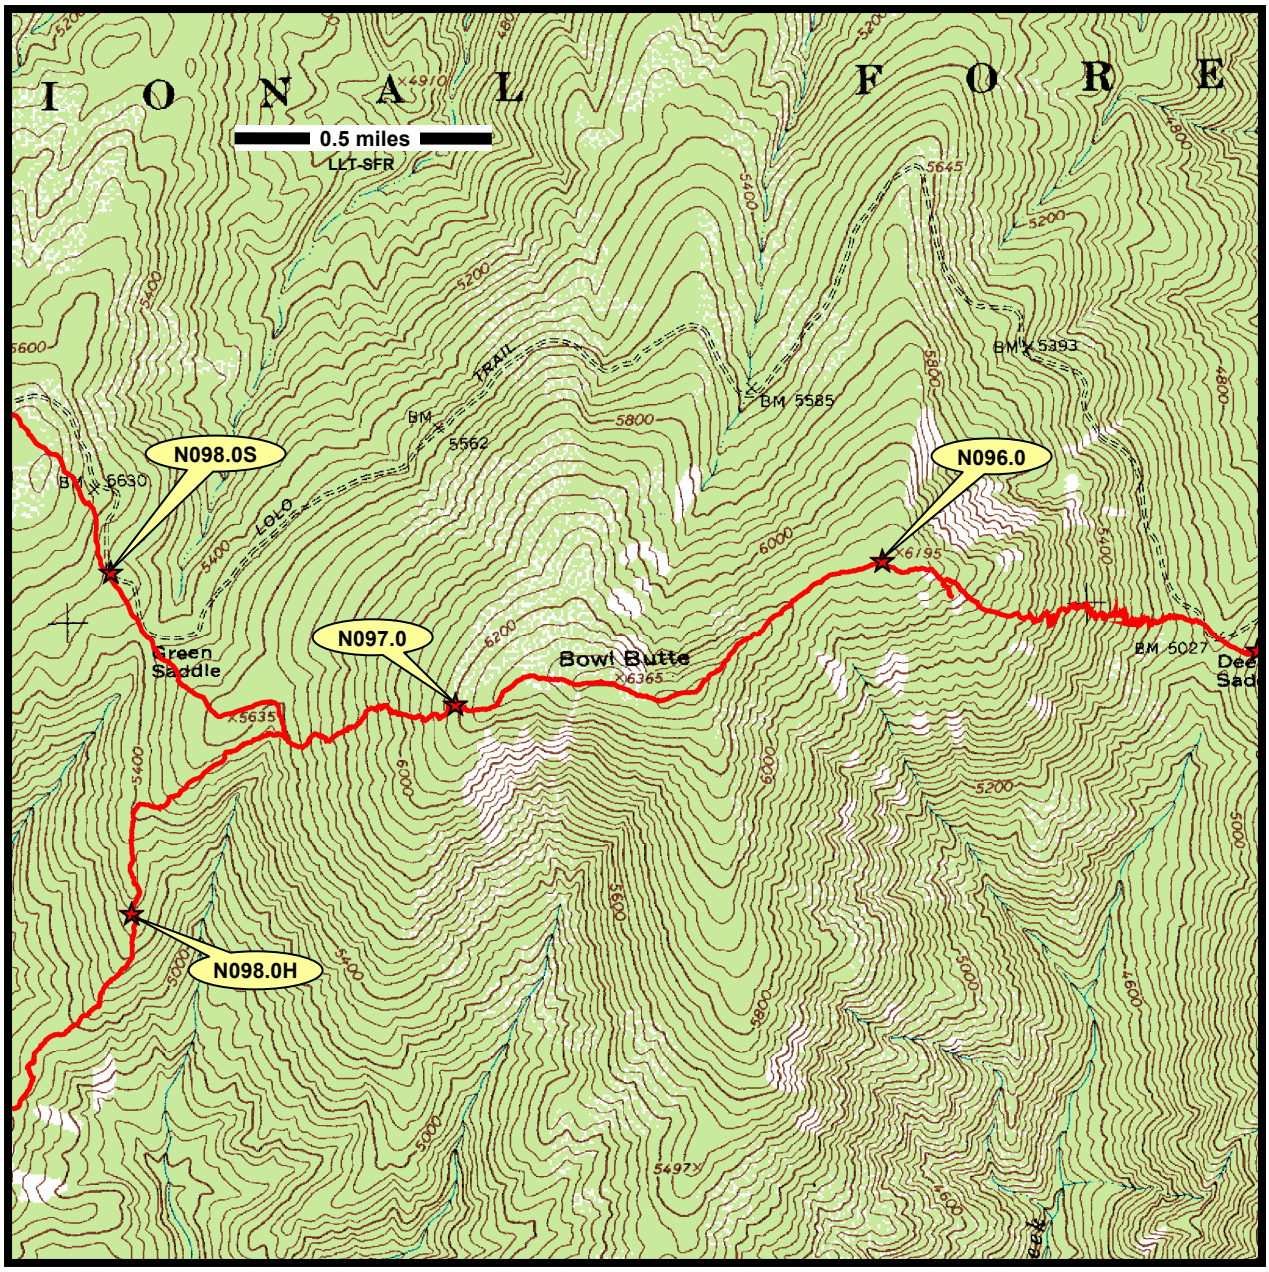

NOTE

The location of this trail between Lolo, Montana and Green Saddle, Idaho is identical to that of Series-1 1805 Northern Nez Perces Trail. To keep the size of this electronic document as small as possible, this part of the trail was not duplicated. Please refer to Series-1 1805 Northern Nez Perces Trail, Map-001-NNT through map Map038-NNT, for this map data.

The Snowy Summit branch (S-NNT) for the 1831 Northern Nez Perces Trail, Map039-NNT through Map057S-NNT is included here.

Please refer to Map Series-1 1805 Northern Nez Perces Trail, and Map-001-NNT through map Map038-NNT for the location of this trail between Lolo, Montana and Green Saddle, Idaho.

Map Series-5 1866 Bird-Truax Trail (BTT)

This map series shows the Bird-Truax Trail 1866 from Weippe Prairie to Lolo Pass. The route of the Northern Nez Perces Trail was used as a guide to lay out this proposed wagon road route that was converted into a pack trail. This is essentially the same trail as used by the Clearwater National Forest in the early days from 1907 to 1935. It is also essentially the same as the Nez Perce (Nee-Mee-Poo) National Historic Trail.

National Historic Landmark Map Set

Map Series-6 1877 Nez Perce National Historic Trail

This national historic trail is essentially the same as the Bird-Truax Trail 1866 except for a few places where the long wagon road switchbacks were shortcut by the early pack trains. It is included as a separate map series for two reasons: 1) historical accuracy, and 2) tread management as a national historic trail.

Map Series-7 1996 Nee-Mee-Poo Adventure Trail (NAT)

This map series documents the recreation trail developed by the Clearwater National Forest over a period from the early 1990s to the present. It starts at Musselshell Meadows and ends near Sinque Hole (Indian Grave). This trail incorporates many sections of the Bird-Truax Trail 1866 but also includes a few miles of new trail that reroute the old trail in some of the steeper sections. Some reroutes have also been constructed to make travel safer by avoiding being close to the Lolo Motorway.

Map Series-8 1805-1996 Lolo Trail NHL System & Lolo Motorway (All Segments Superimposed)

This map series shows the trail treads of all the trails of the Lolo Trail System superimposed on a single topographic map base. These trail treads are represented as layers in the sense used in Geographic Information Systems. Because sometimes the trails overlap, it was necessary to choose a scheme to illustrate the historical nature of the treads. The scheme used in this series of maps was to show the oldest treads as the top layers and the newest treads as the bottom layers. This scheme gives precedence to the original trail, the Northern Nez Perces Trail. The layers are ordered from top to bottom as follows:

Northern Nez Perces Trail
Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail
Bird-Truax Trail 1866
Nez Perce (Nee-Mee-Poo) National Historic Trail (NHT)
US Forest Service Trail
Nee-Mee-Poo Adventure Trail (NAT)
Lolo Motorway 1935
